Amongst a collection of flagship residential and office buildings in the Hudson Yards district stands the masterful 77-story office tower of 50 Hudson Yards.

Designed by Foster + Partners as a high-profile home for preeminent businesses and innovators like BlackRock and Facebook, 50 Hudson Yards exemplifies the way that NHF's single-shop design and fabrication capabilities streamline complicated curtainwall design and installation.

"At 28 feet tall and five feet wide, these were some of the largest panels ever built for a tower in New York," relates an NHF engineer. "With the same team of engineers active from design assist to engineering, to the production floor, we maintained high, high quality from the start to the finish."
